NINE MILE RANCH: MAKING A DIFFERENCE

By Maura Keller - American Cattlemen Staff Writer

When it comes to operating Nine Mile Ranch, Josh Dykes understands the importance of managing cattle in a practical manner so they will thrive in the environments that his commercial customers' cattle do.

Recently Josh and his wife, Kristin, purchased the Nine Mile Ranch, located near Touchet, Washington with the goal of raising cattle on native, dry land grass with very low inputs. Steeped in tradition and historical significance, Nine Mile Ranch is a 15,000+ acre native grass ranch that has been in existence since the early 1900s. Today, the ranch is a family business dedicated to taking natural resources, mainly grass and water, and turning these resources into outstanding naturally raised beef. The mainly dry land, grass ranch has had relatively few owners over the years, which has resulted in pristine acreage, ideal for raising exceptional cattle.

"We are second generation cattlemen with the third generation learning an active role," says Josh Dykes. "We raise Red Angus and Red Angus x Simmental hybrid cattle for our customers. We also run a commercial herd and feed out our own all natural steers and heifers."

With a foundation herd of approximately 800 head, Nine Mile Ranch is one of the largest ranches in Southeast Washington. What makes Nine Mile Ranch truly unique is its ability to run large contemporary groups of cattle efficiently, allowing the cattle to express their true genetic potential. This coincides with the Nine Mile Ranch's commitment to produce the best Red Angus bulls in the West.

So how do they accomplish this? Quite simply, they let nature take its course by supplying the native grass, water and nutrients their herd needs, and let the superior genetics rise to the top. Unlike many herds, 9 Mile is fortunate enough to run their cowherd on grass 365 days a year, which allows Dykes and his team to truly measure the most efficient cows within the program and make better culling decisions as there is no bunk advantage for heavy eaters.

In addition to extensive grazing management, 9 Mile Ranch has an extensive A.I. and embryo transplant program with some of the Red Angus and Simmental breeds' premier sires and elite donor cows at their disposal.

"I began driving past this ranch when I was about 17 years old," Dykes says. "I was working at a ranch just west of here and always thought it would be fantastic to have a ranch like that." When the ranch became available a year ago, the Dykes family made a move to acquire it. The rest, as they say, is history.

As basically a winter and spring ranch, the sprawling acreage of 9 Mile Ranch allows Dykes and his team to run large numbers of cattle out on grass from October until June 1. At that time, the cows and calves are loaded up and sent to a 38,000 acre summer range along the Middle Fork of the John Day River in Oregon, where elevations range from 3,500 to 7,000 feet. In October, the cows return to 9 Mile Ranch and the cycle begins again. Dykes feels this developmental process is a difference maker that separates 9 Mile Ranch from many other seedstock producers in the country.

"Our cattle are all grass fed 365 days a year," Dykes says. "We typically don't feed our cows with the exception of this year due to the weather we've had. We feel like this program—that allows our animals to develop, grow and maintain on native grass—has the ability to show the genetic difference in our cattle."

Boasting primarily Red Angus and Red Angus x Simmental hybrid bulls, 9 Mile Ranch has developed a program of buying back their customers' calves, giving the ranch very meaningful data on their genetics, and a competitive edge in the market.

When it comes to their breeding program, 9 Mile Ranch uses all tools available to identify superior genetics, including individual performance data, cow production records, EPDs and multiple trait indexes... and they look at the cattle too!

"We are focused on the quality of each cow," Dykes says. In an industry where the best sires are available to everyone through AI, 9 Mile Ranch believes that the cow makes the difference, so they have acquired and are extensively flushing a very elite set of Red Angus and Simmental donor cows.

"We run our cows in a manner that gives them a very little window to have problems," says Seth Leachman, partner and general manager of 9 Mile Ranch. "If there is a problem of any sort, they don't stick around long on this ranch." In addition to helping Dykes oversee the operations, Leachman has developed a strong marketing program for 9 Mile Ranch.

"We have gone out and selected some of the top cattle in the country, in terms of genetics," Leachman says. "As a result we are building an amazing program at the ranch. We are really excited with what we are seeing in the bulls we have to offer for sale this spring and the calves that are hitting the ground now. The program is really working."

Dykes' vision is to be the largest provider of Red Angus and composite genetics in the west, and to provide a marketing avenue for their customers' calves.

"Our focus is to get up every day and strive to make sure that those cattle are going to work for commercial cowboys,"

Dykes says. "We want to own those calves when they come to market. And if we can't own them, because there are just too many available, we want to market those cattle for our customers."

Dykes is starting by putting his money where his mouth is — buying over 1,000 head of steers this fall and placing them in Kansas, Colorado, and Washington — all from customers or potential customers of bulls.

One of the things that makes 9 Mile tick is the impressive team of people Dykes has put together. Brad and Karen Gleason, were the former operators of 9 Mile Ranch and joined the team when Dykes acquired the ranch. Their the SProfit program developed by Seth's brother, Lee Leachman, we are identifying more profitable animals given a certain set of criteria. The result is a more moderate, efficient cow, that weans a heavy calf. We're cautious with the term 'moderate' because some people equate it to lower performing cattle. We are identifying faster growing cattle that mature earlier and with less inputs and lower mature cow size. We have a passion for this business, we love Red Angus cattle, and we are eager to develop our high-impact purebred operation running the cows just like the commercial guys.

Having an extensive mineral program, plus water and grass allows the 9 Mile extensive knowledge of the country and commitment to raising great cattle and horses is second to none. Also joining the team is Seth Leachman's son, James Leachman, and our local cowboy, Enrique Vasques... these two guys put in many hours keeping 9 Mile looking good. "My experience in the business world has taught me that it takes a combination of great people, great livestock and great land to make 9 Mile Ranch successful."

In addition, 9 Mile Ranch is embracing the industry's most advanced tools needed to better identify the cattle. "With

Ranch team to turn that into high-quality beef. "We understand our Western heritage and still do everything on horseback at 9 Mile Ranch," Dykes says. "We are dedicated to providing value for our customers and working with them to produce more net profit in their own programs."

On March 18, 2017, Nine Mile Ranch is having its Annual Bull Sale, offering 100 quality Red Angus bulls and a handful of elite Red Angus females. For more information, visit www.facebook.com/9mileranch. ■

9 Mile Ranch to include $Profit for our customers...

$PROFIT™

Why $Profit:

Today, ranchers have to make proper genetic decisions to improve profitability and the return on their investment. However, most seedstock providers confuse potential customers with too many EPDs. Most Angus have over 25 EPDs plus DNA rankings are also often provided. While this data is useful, it is also very hard to analyze. This makes buying the best bull very difficult. Every bull is good on some traits and weak on others. The challenge is figuring out how each of those traits is going to impact your bottom line. Buyers try to determine which bull will make the most money from birth to slaughter, but most of the time, they end up guessing.

When Boeing Airlines starts to build a plane, do you think they guess how it is going to fly? How much fuel it is going to use? How many pounds of cargo it can carry? No, they don't guess – instead they use their knowledge to build a computer program that simulates the outcomes based on the design of the plane that they have in mind. This same simulation technology can be used in beef cattle to improve selection decisions.

How $Profit works:

$Profit is based on results from an advanced simulation model, developed by Dr. Steve Miller (now the Director of Genetic Research at the American Angus Association) in conjunction with other geneticists at Guelph University. The simulation develops partial budgets that look at how a genetic factor influences cost and/or revenue. The model factors in all of the effects on both income and expense to come up with a net profit figure for each bull.

$Profit assumes that the average commercial bull will have 100 progeny over its lifetime. The model assumes that you keep 30% of your heifers as replacements and that you retain ownership on the remainder of the calves through harvest. Further, it assumes that you will sell on a grid with premiums for quality grade and yield grade.

Most importantly, $Profit allows you to easily compare any two bulls and calculate the difference in profit that they are expected to generate in your herd. Let's compare a $14,000 $Profit bull to $10,000 $Profit bull. The predicted difference between the bulls is $4,000 or about $40 per calf. For comparison, the average 2015 Angus bull has a $Profit of approximately $9000.

“On the Ranch, In the Feedlot, & On the Rail, $Profit™ simply works!”

~ Lee Leachman

Most of the sale bulls have been RA50K tested. Genomic enhanced EPDs, along with $Profit figures, will be available sale day!

Raising cattle and wheat on the Palouse River in Southeastern Washington has been the way of life for the Lautenschlager family. Carl and Scott's late father, Elmer, was always a fan of red cattle, so in the late 80's they began to crossbreed their Hereford cows with Limousin bulls. When the demand for these cattle started to dwindle in the early '90s, Carl decided to try Red Angus in their herd, and the increase in quality of the offspring hooked him on the Red Angus breed.

Carl built his herd by acquiring genetics from some of the best programs from around the country and doing so, he met Pam and Dallas Thompson and Josh Dykes. Shaping his program with genetics from 5L Red Angus, Leachman's, Boot Jack, Rew Red Angus, and Thompson's, Carl now has a superior herd of Red Angus cattle, and one of the largest in the Northwest, numbering around 250 head. The herd is loaded with outstanding performance and carcass genetics, and the rugged terrain of their ranch has made structural soundness and good feet a must. The synergies that exist between Lautenschlager's and the 9 Mile Ranch's approach to raising cattle, coupled with the long-time family friendship we have, makes this an easy partnership, and one that will last.

The Lautenschlager and Sons is a family operation. Carl and Jodi have two daughters, Lucy and Katy, and they help their technologically challenged Dad post pictures and ads on the internet. Their son, Cody, works with Carl on the ranch, and just recently got married to Kaysha, a great addition to the family. Carl's brother, Scott, and his nephew, Phillip, also work in the operation. They spend most of their time farming around 5,000 acres of dryland wheat, and in their spare time, they manage this great herd of Red Angus cattle.

Dallas & Pam Thompson have been involved in cattle and agriculture their entire lives, and in the late 80's they became interested in registered Red Angus. About that time they met a young kid still wet behind the ears named Josh Dykes. He instantly became part of their family and worked with the Thompsons to build a reputable program.

Jump forward to 2015, and that is when Josh purchased Pam & Dallas' home place, and built his new residence just east of Lowden, WA. The Thompson's now run their cows on property just north of Touchet, WA, where they maintain a registered and commercial herd. They will continue to raise ET calves for 9 Mile Ranch, and will always be a part of the 9 Mile family.

Chris and Heidi are new to the Red Angus business, purchasing their first registered animals back in 2014. Chris is a student of the breed, studying every catalog and magazine that comes his way. Their family includes two adult children, Kaytlin and Micheal, who are both in college, but come home to help on the farm during the summer. Their youngest daughter, Mackenzie, has taken a liking to the Red Angus cattle, and purchased her first heifer, 9 Mile Chinook 6309, from us at the '16 Bet On Red sale. Besides picking up the slack around the ranch, Chris will continue to raise top quality ET and AI calves for the 9 Mile program.

- Front Row X37D is definitely a 'front row' kind of bull! This powerhouse is loaded with depth and capacity, and he is very sound with a big, solid foot.
 - His dam, Leanna BC114R, has made quite a name for herself the past few years. In '15, her Eldorado son, Bravado, was Lot 1 in our sale going to Lee Ranches in ID, and last year she produced our Lot 1 bull again! She is now a prolific ET donor for Lautenschlager's and C-Bar Red Angus in KS.
 - Selling 1/2 interest and full possession.

- It might take more than a ten gallon hat to fill the britches up on this stud! Hoss 6126 is big and powerful from his head to his toes, and he is bred to be that way.
 - His dam, Dory Jiba DR125T, is our most powerful donor cow. Not for the weak or timid, this matron can tip the scales with any cow in the business, yet she is functional and productive, and at 10 years of age she is still going strong!
 - Selling 1/2 interest and full possession.

Lots 8 & 9... a powerful 'defense' always wins!

Lot 8's dam, Ms Libra A471, pictured in January... she calved during a blizzard and had the instinct to take her calf and stick it in this sagebrush... it survived and she became one of our favorite cows!

- Red Zone 6101 is another one of our favorite bulls and one that we have watched with great anticipation. He was one of the high gainers on test, posting a 111 YR!
- His dam, Libra A471, is on her way to the donor pen this spring. This Rollin Deep 3yr old has a perfect udder, and she is one of the best momma cows on the ranch. She became Josh's favorite this January when she calved in a blizzard, and took her calf to safety, digging a hole under a sagebrush bush for it!

Mabee's Red Angus

Byron & Doris Mabee
Virlea Mays

Sweet Home, Oregon
(541) 409-7472

Byron and Doris Mabee are founding Red Angus breeders in the Northwest. They are well known for producing some of the top performing cattle in the breed, winning the prestigious Midland Bull Test with their bulls for many years, and offering some of the best females at sales like the Nile and Bet On Red.

They are now retired, but they still love those darn Red Angus cows, so we are gladly helping them market the bulls off of the few elite females they have left. Byron still hasn't lost his eye for good cattle, as is evident in the bulls we are offering today.

- Leanna S3D has been our most powerful heifer since the day she was born. She is an ET daughter of Leanna BC114R, the $30,000 donor daughter of Basin Hobo 79E that has dominated our program, producing our Lot 1 bull that last two years.

- Her maternal siblings include LASO Bravado, the powerful Eldorado son that sold to Lee Red Angus in ID, and some of his first progeny are featured in this sale. She is also a maternal sibling to LASO Front Row X37D, the awesome Out In Front son featured as Lot 6.

Lot 111's dam, the $30,000 LASO Leanna!

Red Angus Females... the hottest chicks in the industry!

RED RIGHT. NOW.

An independent university study compared six years of Superior Livestock Auction data, revealing Red Angus-sired heifers commanded from $5 to $9/cwt. more than females of all other breed types.

The Red Angus female is the rancher favorite for replacements that deliver real profitability.

SALE TERMS & CONDITIONS

1. BIDDING

The Auctioneer in charge will settle any disputes as to bids, and his decision on such matters shall be final.

2. TERMS

Terms of sale are cash unless satisfactory credit arrangements have been made with Sale Management prior to sale.

3. PURCHASER'S RISK

Each animal becomes the risk of the Buyer as soon as sold, but it shall be the obligation of the Seller to see that animals are fed and cared for free of charge to Buyer, until loaded for shipment or until the expiration of 48 hours after the sale, whichever occurs sooner.

4. HEALTH

All animals are eligible for interstate shipment, except as otherwise announced. Interstate health papers will be furnished for each animal requiring tuberculosis and brucellosis tests in accordance with Federal Regulations.

5. ANNOUNCEMENTS

Any changes from information of any kind in this catalog will be announced from the auction box and such announcements shall take precedence.

6. DEFAULT

In the event the Buyer defaults on payment, the Buyer shall be responsible for all costs, including attorney's costs, incurred by Sale Management or Seller in connection with collecting, or attempting to collect, payment due.

7. BREEDING GUARANTEE

All animals are guaranteed by the seller as outlined in the Red Angus Association of America Code of Ethical Sale Practices.

8. CONTRACT

The above terms and conditions of sale shall constitute a contract between the buyer and seller of each animal and shall be equally binding upon both. Each sale or resale of an animal constitutes a separate transaction.

9. LIABILITIES

All persons who attend the sale do so at their own risk. The seller, the sale manager, and the auction facility assume no liability for accidents that may occur. It is to be clearly understood that the sale manager and their representatives act only as a medium between the buyer and seller.

THANK YOU!
